Excerpt from Louisiana Conservation Review, Vol. 4: October, 1934 During this time the great sulphur mine of Louisiana, Sulphur salt dome, Calcasieu Parish, continued to be an important factor in the economic-life of the State. The production of sulphur for the year 1918 amounted to tons. Two salt mines, Avery Island and Weeks Island produced a total of tons of salt during the year 1918. A third mine, the Jefferson Island salt mine, was under construction at this time. Because of the extensive exploration, exploitation, and development of the mineral resources of the State, the Division of Minerals of the Department of Conservation arranged for the extension of its work, both with respect to inspection and statistical service. However, insufficiency of funds at the disposal of the Division prevented this work from, being carried out thoroughly.
